

Greetings 1985 gang,

I hope you are all doing well and hanging in there. I was very disappointed to hear that we will not return to school this year. I hate to miss out on all of the spring fun, and I am not a fan of this online business, but it will have to do.

I decided it will be best to have you submit the choice book assignments in Canvas. That way I can keep separate the work for research and the work for this unit.

I outlined the new unit requirements in an email and in canvas last week. Note, I have made a slight adjustment to timing. You are only required to read 10-15 minutes per day, so that you have a bit more time to spend on the written work construction. You will see that reflected in the assignments posted in Canvas. I put criteria in files and announcements.

I will figure out how to update "grades" after a Tuesday meeting. I understand, as a parent and teacher, it is not clear to parents what research is turned in and what is not. I am working on this issue.

Meanwhile, enjoy your books. If you read one and do not like it, find a new one on one of the modes I recommended and read it instead. There is NO point spending a ton of time on a book you hate if you do not have to.
